부활을 위하여

Year 1994, July 6th.

Kim Il-Sung died.

The media were mournful about his death and talked about a high possibility of a war on Korean peninsula.

But to a high school student like myself, the image of Kim Il-Sung was like above.

I remembered him as a typical villain who'd always fall to a chosen hero.

Quite frankly, I was rather uninterested in the news of his death. I was actually more interested in a fact that someone had predicted his death...

Hehe, Ga-ul's under it for Ga-ul hoora?!

No, he will be here soon. Then he coming here overnight.

Of course, I bet that his prediction was pretty much ingored at that time.

But now the film Ill-Sung died, his predictions gained attention.

I don't like to talk about

Well, it was me who was interested in such predictions as usual.

Anyway, I've had classes to go to school with Ga-ul frequently lately and, after talking to him carefully, I've managed to find out topics he disliked.

You are the only one in the class whose grades are very unstable. But did okay in Practical Art, as a Junior, your grades have plummeted.

At this rate, You won't be able to keep up in your senior year. I wrote you to study and get your grades back up in 2nd semester.

I am telling you because you have little of hope. Your next teacher won't pay any attention with these kind of grades next year.

... Sure.

Yes, sir !

Sure...

Do you understand ?

Look at me when you answer.

Do you understand ?

Answer me properly.

Do you understand ?

Sure...
